

Grandview House Newsletter November 2021

A massive congratulations to Hana Allen who works in our kitchen. Hana took on a gruelling Open University course and has only managed to bag herself an Honours degree in history! Huge congratulations from us all.

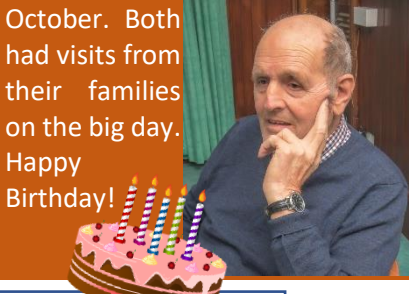

At the time of writing this edition of our monthly newsletter, it certainly doesn't feel like November outside! However, I'm sure the snow and frost isn't far away. So, lets sit back and check out some of the events of the previous few weeks. We have a double birthday, the return of live music and (yet another) generous donation from the local community.

f Find us on Facebook

We had cause for a double celebration last month. Both Jean and George celebrated their birthdays on Wednesday 20th October. Both had visits from their families on the big day. Happy Birthday!

Finally, we are allowed the return of live musicians and entertainment in general. We marked the occasion in true Grandview style! Music, dancing, food, drink and of course lots and lots of smiley faces. You can view all of the pictures from the day over on our Facebook page. Here at Grandview we are always on the lookout for different types of entertainment for our residents. In the past we have had jugglers, magicians, visiting animals such as owls, donkeys, goats as well as all of the great singers, bands and pipers! If you have something a bit different to bring to the party contact: sharon@grandviewhouse.co.uk

Check Mate

Over time we have received a lot of beautiful donations. The latest is this hand-crafted chess set. It came from Skiradvie Crafts. We are blown away with the quality of the set and cant wait to get a game up and running!

We had a cuteness overload in October with a visit from care assistant Laura and her baby Sophia and she was good as gold for the whole day (Sophia that is not Laura)! Sophia Rose Gray was born Sunday 8th August at 13.51 weighing in at 8 lbs exactly. Laura is loving every moment of motherhood.

Annie's Law Appeal
We need your feedback for the Scottish Government's consultation on "Annie's Law" which seeks views on proposals for delivering legislation to ensure that people who live in care homes have rights to see and spend time with the people who are important to them. This is a very important piece of legislation, and everyone's views and voices need to be heard. Visit our Facebook page for the link.
